

Irish Examiner

Focus on future of Cork architecture

The Cork issue of the Royal Institute of the Architects of Ireland's Journal was launched at the Glucksman Gallery, UCC yesterday. It's the first time the institute has editorially focused on one location. 'Cork Towards a Second City' covers topics such as changes to quay walls and flood-prevention methods, the Beaufort Laboratory at Ringaskiddy and the master-plan for the Henry Ford site on the Marina.