

Sunday Independent

IF YOU ONLY DO ONE THING...

Support Simon

The Royal Institute of the Architects of Ireland (RIAI) and the Simon Communities have launched the annual RIAI Simon Open Door campaign, when architects will offer one-hour consultations for €90 — which goes directly to Simon Communities in Ireland. May 13-19, book a consultation now on simonopendoor.ie

Home in on house

Create a focus, change a layout, bring in the view, change the mood... house 2017 (below), an unmissable celebration of interior design, takes place in the RDS from May 26 to 28. Tickets €12 on sale at house-event.ie

Amble to Airfield

Airfield Estate, Dundrum, presents Woolapalooza Farm Festival 2017, today and tomorrow, a 38-acre farm and food adventure for all the family, including thrilling sheepdog trials, sheep shearing, live music at the barn dance, drop-in craft sessions, butchery and bakery demos, estate tours, knitting bee, sizzling BBQ, pop up cafe and much more. airfield.ie

Trot to theatre

The International Dublin Gay Theatre Festival runs from May 1-14, when gay identities are celebrated through stories from across the globe, from modern New York and Dublin to Victorian London and 1920s Paris. For more information check out gaytheatre.ie

Love Leticia

RTE NSO Symphonie Espagnole, with RTE National Symphony Orchestra, Leticia Moreno violin (below) and Josep Pons conductor, perform Turina, Lalo, Ravel, and Falla, at the National Concert Hall at 8pm on Friday, May 5. See nch.ie

