

Humewood Castle nominated for Architecture Award

Humewood Castle in Kiltegan is among the 50 plus projects shortlisted for this year's RIAI Irish Architecture Awards, which were announced by The Royal Institute of the Architects of Ireland (RIAI).

Now in its ninth year, the popular RIAI Public Choice Award gives the public the opportunity to have their say by voting for their favourite short-listed project, which has the honour of being named Ireland's favourite building 2016. The RIAI encourages the public to vote for their favourite building online on www.irisharchitectureawards.ie or through the RIAI Facebook page.

This year's awards received 180 entries - the highest in five years - across 17 categories with 52 shortlisted in best commercial, best educational and best health building, best house, best housing and best house extension, best public building, best cultural project, best leisure, best public space/urban design, best international project, best sustainable project, best conservation, and best universal design. There is also a new award for best fit-out and awards for best research and for the best emerging practice. The winners will be announced at an awards ceremony at the Royal Hospital Kilmainham on Friday, 24th June.
